

3 Men Will Get Honorary Degrees

from Wartburg College during the annual Commencement exercises on June 1.

Those being awarded the degrees are Pastor Rudolph Lechner, assistant director of the division of charities and director of children's services of the American Lutheran Church; Pastor Melvin Bucka, a minister; and the Honorable Judge H. N. Graven, former United States District Judge.

PASTOR LECHNER, a 1913 Wartburg graduate, will get an honorary Doctor of Divinity Degree. Pastor Lechner's home is Raymond, Minn.

He is being sponsored by the Western Conference of the Minnesota District of the ALC because of what is termed "his scholarly and eloquent presentation" of difficult theological topics.

Being honored because of his contributions in welfare work is Pastor Bucka, who will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws. Presently he resides in Minneapolis.

HE WAS the executive director of the Lutheran Children's Home in Waverly from 1948-61, and he also taught social work at Wartburg for five years.

Judge Graven, receiving an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters, is being cited both for his work in the church and in the legal profession.

He is presently serving as president of the board of trustees of the School of Religion at the State University of Iowa. His home is in Greene.

Convo Features Awards

Awards Day convocation and a worship service will highlight the closing convocations of the 1961-62 school year next week.

Featured speaker for the annual awards convocation Tuesday will be Dr. W. Robert Parks, vice president of Academic Affairs at Iowa State University. He will speak on the topic "Profile of a Scholar."

Dr. John O. Chellebold will preside, and two Wartburg band ensembles will provide musical selections for the occasion.

The awards program this year will vary from the pattern of giving individual presentations followed in the past, according to chairman Raymond Norheim.

A printed honors booklet containing names of scholarships and honors winners for the school year will be distributed.

Dr. C. H. Becker will speak Thursday at the closing worship convocation. Special music will be provided by the Wartburg Choir under the direction of Dr. Edwin Liemohn.

Wartburg Goes Modern - Gets Daylight Time

No longer will one have to ponder the time of day on the Wartburg campus.

A sundial has been ordered and will be put in use by graduation, according to Alumni Director Robert Gremmels.

The sundial is being cast in bronze by Bronze Incorporated of Chicago. It will be placed on the old foundation north of the fishpond.

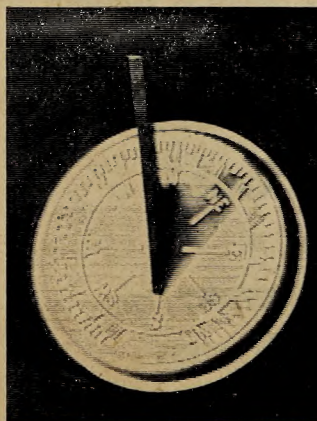

A loyal alumni board member, Harold P. Kurtz, a 1958 graduate, has donated the money for the replacement of the sundial.

He believes that a historical marker like the sundial should be kept in "timely" repair.

The following hymns for the dedication ceremonies have been suggested by Kurtz — "Now is the Hour," "Sun of My Soul" and "The Hour Doth Approach."

The sundial is in memory of Pastor E. A. Kurtz, an 1893 graduate of Wartburg College.

Intramural Debate Program Planned For Fall

By Lynda Huntley

An intramural debate program will be initiated by the Speech Department beginning next fall, announced John Ness, debate coach.

The program will be on a competitive basis with campus and off-campus residences selecting representative teams.

Wartburg, Centennial, Vollmer, the new-addition to Centennial, Clinton, North and Grossmann Halls, plus off-campus units, will be invited to participate in one or more of the six debates scheduled for the year.

Teams will be selected and draw for affirmative or negative positions in the fall. A different question will be debated each month using the cross-question technique.

Debates will take place in the Little Theater and will be open to all interested students and faculty.

Members of the Wartburg faculty will judge the debates, and teams will receive trophies if all three debates are won on an elimination basis.

Three of the year's debates will concern on-campus questions such as "Resolved: That Christianity courses should be required at Wartburg College."

The other three debates will be of national or international importance such as "Resolved: That Red China should be admitted to the United Nations."

Ness stated that at least one debate will deal with the U.N. and will be scheduled in conjunction with the model U.N. meeting to be held at Wartburg next April.

The reason for beginning an intramural debate program is to enable students interested in debate to participate without spending an extensive amount of time as in inter-collegiate debate, said Ness.

Ness added that many Wartburg faculty members have expressed interest in the new debate program.

Steering committee for intramural debate includes freshmen Kathe Lewellan, Gary Baumann and Lynda Huntley and Fred Dierks, student body vice president.

Play In The Sandpile

GRANDMA (NANCY BAKER) has considerable trouble with her toy sand shovel as Mommy (Bonnie Loufek) and Daddy (Don Ehlers) look dismayed. A strong young man (Duane Huth) keeps fit at left.

"The Sandbox," one of three one-act plays which will be presented for the last time tonight at 8 in the Chapel-auditorium, is written by contemporary Edward Albee.

24-Year 'Mother' Plans To Retire

Mrs. Rose LaBahn, house-mother here for 24 years, has resigned. Mrs. LaBahn (L.B. to most), housemother at Wartburg since 1938, lived in Wartburg Hall for 16 years and moved to Centennial Hall after it was built.

Mrs. LaBahn said, "I will miss the dormitory life and its surroundings, but there always comes a time when we must part, and it will be hard to leave Wartburg and my many Waverly friends."

"I HAVE been a mother to hundreds of girls and equally as many different personalities. I did enjoy my work, but there were times when it was a bit unpleasant, both on the inside as well as outside," she added.

"L. B." has two children, both graduates of Wartburg College. Dr. Vincent LaBahn is a dentist at El Reno, Okla., and her daughter is Mrs. Vivian Sunderman, teacher at Clarinda.

MRS. LABAHN plans to establish her home in Oklahoma. Pres. C. H. Becker said of Mrs. LaBahn's leaving, "For 24 years Mrs. Rose LaBahn has served most effectively as housemother in the fullest sense of the word. She has taken a personal interest in the girls entrusted to her care. She has been an immaculate housekeeper.

"We sincerely regret that she has decided to retire. We accept her resignation most reluctantly and with the realization that Wartburg College owes her a great debt of gratitude," said President Becker.

Band Schedules Concert

An outdoor band concert by the Wartburg College Concert Band will be given on the mall in front of Luther Hall this Tuesday evening at 7:15.

Featured numbers on the program will be compositions by E. A. Hovdesven, Music Department.

The band will play his "Cibaconne Lyrique," "Passacaglia" and "Long Shadows." "Cibaconne Lyrique" was written for the band last summer and "Passacaglia" was written for the band two years ago.

The audience should bring chairs or blankets to sit on, according to Robert E. Lee, director.

In case of bad weather, this free concert will be held on Wednesday evening at the same time. In the event of rain again, the concert will be held in the Chapel-auditorium.

Notice Any Changes?

In case you noticed anything different about today's Trumpet, don't be alarmed. Changes were made intentionally for the sake of experiment, including a "rocket" head in the upper left hand corner of page one, 10-point type for main stories, "deep-well" arrangement of ads on the back page, etc.

"High Church" — Show, Entertainment

Wartburg students have had several opportunities in the past few weeks to participate in and observe "high church" rituals.

As many smirked, the incense was waved, and genuflections were made toward the altar.

It is doubtful if this "high churchism" was more than "high showism" entertainment to the majority who attended the service at which two outside "high church" ministers and eight student servers presided.

Attendance for this chapel was unusually high, due to the comparative novelty of the service. Students didn't know quite what to expect and many were amused with what they saw.

"High churchism" seems to be only a big show, and those who enthusiastically support it are only interested in the show they can make and the attention they can get.

"High churchism," as a service of worship, would probably be fine, provided that the worshippers became spiritually affected by it. It does not seem likely that elaborate rituals and rites can spiritually move most of the congregation members, however.

They either become bored to death with the formality of a set service after a few weeks just as some are bored with common prayers. Or they are so amused that they only look for mistakes or other funny features in the service. In neither case is spiritual involvement attained.

That service that emphasizes individual involvement would seem to be better than the abstract, formalized, sometimes-humorous and many times ridiculous "high church" service.

Even Lutheran liturgy can become tedious at times, without the addition of ceremonies which do more to detract from the effect of the service than to add to it. Perhaps the Quakers or others who have no set service are closer to spiritual involvement than Lutherans, whether Lutherans be "high churchers" or "low church" advocates.

Church members do not need ceremony to become involved; it is not necessary to follow a fancy service to be a Christian. In fact, there does not seem to be much reason for the existence of "high church" except that man has again tried to produce a legalized way to salvation.

"High churchism" may fulfill its purpose for a few of those directly involved. But for the general congregation members, "high churchism" is only a show of pomp and dignity conducted by show-offs, who think that such services are almost essential to salvation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

YR's Back U.N. Proposal

To the Editor:

Re: Gary Miller and Darrell Jobman's Letter to the Editor for May 12.

At its April monthly meeting Young Republicans went on record as endorsing the "Model United Nations" proposed by World Affairs Forum and pledging YR support for the project.

We are confident that this project can only serve to inform Wartburg students, to broaden their interests and to bring credit (and no small amount of publicity) to Wartburg College.

We would hope that other campus groups would endorse this undertaking and that the student body at large would support it with enthusiasm.

U.N. Committee Praises Convos

Dear Editor:

We would like to commend the convocation committee on the fine convocations they have arranged during the 1961-62 academic school year.

There have been many interesting and informative blocks and several "top-notch" speakers. We understand more international affairs blocks will be sponsored next fall.

We hope they will be as interesting as the past ones and will also help create interest in next year's model United Nations.

Webster Presents Goals Of New Club

By Harold Webster

Put an average man in a room with a genius and forbid either of them to speak. The result: each will emerge somewhat worse off intellectually than he was before.

This is the "Webster" thesis, and basically this is the evil I had in mind when I proposed the formation of the Wartburg Literary Discussion Club.

Idea Not Original

I'd like to take full credit, but I'd be lying in my teeth if I did. In the first place, the idea was not wholly, nor originally, my own; others had given the matter a great deal of thought before I came on the scene.

In the second place, no phase of the club's development would have been possible without the enthusiastic support of the English faculty and the encouragement of a small but stalwart group of interested students.

Intellect Lacking

Most of us found something lacking in the intellectual atmosphere of the various Greek-letter organizations on campus.

As a rule, they tend to lose contact with their supposed area of interest, leaving it up to an outside speaker to come in and tell them about it. We felt that while this method may be desirable in some respects, it was hardly suitable for our needs.

Rules Are Out

We wanted a club that would encourage individual participation. Our rules of order are these: "There shall be no rules of order save those general laws of polite discussion."

We have few rules and fewer officers. Our purpose "is to stimulate interest in, and promote discussion of, worthy literary works," and every step we take must conform to and further that purpose.

Pattern Flexible

Basically, our discussion patern is quite flexible. We agreed to split the semesters into two 9-week periods, and select a topic of general interest for each period as it approaches.

Right now we are surrounded by T. S. Eliot's "The Waste Land," and I do mean surrounded. Mr. Eliot was quite a mouthful for us beginners, and I rather suspect our next selection will be a less frustrating thing.

Instructors Help

Toward the end of each meeting, an instructor whom we have invited enters the discussion room. He then points out things which he considers relevant to our topic, or things we might have missed.

We do not collect dues as such; rather, we have only a free will offering which, to my knowledge, has not yet been taken. Most of us are coffee hounds, however, and sooner or later we shall be forced to pass the hat.

Interest Needed

If you are interested in literature ("Li'l Abner" excluded), if you are able to hold an intelligent conversation, if you are anxious to broaden yourself, you meet all membership qualifications.

You must be a sophomore or above also; we felt that the ability of freshmen would be too difficult to evaluate. The club is not restricted to English majors and high grade-point holders. We merely ask that you come prepared to discuss; we abhor parasites!

Members Pick Recruits

Interested students should contact a known club member and ask that his name be considered for membership at the next regular meeting.

If we think his interest level and discussion abilities will be an asset to the club, he will be admitted.

At present, we are approximately twenty members strong. We are vibrant, vigorous and growing; in fact, it is not inconceivable that we might one day split into two sections.

O-Men Tackle Conf. Today UIU Only Title Obstruction

Parsons Favorite

BV Top Challenger

Knight trackmen go into the finals of the Iowa Conference track meet in Dubuque today with good prospects of placing as high as the predicted fifth.

Parsons remains as the favorite, but the race for the second-place spot is wide open. Track Coach Dave Olson had said earlier that his O-men were aiming for at least a fifth-place finish this year, which is the same as last year's finish.

THREE KNIGHTS survived in four of yesterday's preliminary track events, and one finished second in one of the two events completed yesterday.

Freshman Kurt Thorson took second in the javelin with a throw of 172'. Defending conference champion Ron Ter Hark of Buena Vista won the event.

In the other event completed, Dubuque's Scott Berry set a new conference record in the shot with a toss of 50'1 3/4". Wartburg had no entries in the shot or discus.

Senior John Niemeyer led the Wartburg qualifiers by making the grade for both of today's hurdle races. He ran the highs in :26.1 and the lows in :26.1.

Chuck Fillman of Simpson tied a conference record with a time of :14.9 in the highs, but Dubuque's Russ Spearman had the best time in the lows with a :25.0 race.

FRESHMAN Harold Shudlick qualified for the 440 finals with a time of 51.9. The best preliminary time yesterday was :50.0, but Luther, which had three good quarter milers, didn't qualify anyone. Shudlick failed to qualify in the 880 despite an excellent 2:02 run.

Freshman Ted Johnson ran the 100 in :10.5 to qualify in that dash, but he didn't qualify for the 220 finals.

Senior Dixon Zander, favored in the pole vault, tops Knights hopes today along with sophomore Lothar Columbus in the distances, high jumpers Len Schmidt, Jerry Schara and Joe Nieman and the mile relay team.

COACH OLSON said that the Knights could finish two, three and four in the high jump, which has almost been conceded to Parsons' Larry Dunville, who has jumped about 6' 6".

SCI Wins Meet

State College of Iowa avenged an earlier loss to the tennis team Tuesday as the Panthers downed the Knights, 6-3.

Today four netsters — Larry Mugridge, Jerome Shinkay, Glen Kjornes and Don Dietzler — meet at Dubuque.

Jaspers indicated that Mugridge-Dietzler and Shinkay-Kjornes would team up for the doubles. Mugridge finished third in singles last year as Wartburg placed sixth.

Wartburg lays all of its hopes for a repeat baseball crown on the line today in a doubleheader at Fayette with the Upper Iowa Peacocks.

Two is the magic number for the Knights. Any combination of Wartburg wins and third-place Buena Vista losses totaling two will give the title outright to the Knights. A tie cannot occur unless rain interferes.

A PAIR OF wins today would give the Knights an 11-2 final mark, out of the reach of the Beavers, who have a 7-3 record. BV still has four games left, however, and could sneak past the Knights into first should the Knights only split.

At present the UIU Peacocks hold the number six position in the conference race with 7-7 mark, while Wartburg is first at 9-2.

In winning a doubleheader from Iowa Wesleyan Wednesday, the Peacocks started two relief pitchers in order to save their two starting pitchers for the Knights this afternoon.

ODDLY ENOUGH, the magic number against second-place Luther is only one since the Norskies also finish the season today. Simpson also is still in the running.

Last Wednesday the Opiemen split a twin bill with second-place Buena Vista. The Knights, with the five-hit pitching of senior lefty Jim Borcharding, won the opener 3-0 and then lost the nightcap 3-1.

Borcharding won his fourth game even though he was in trouble on several occasions.

Don Sowers got the only Knight extra base hit, a double in the fifth inning.

IN THE nightcap both teams came up with eight hits, but the Beavers won. Dave Langrock started on the mound for the Knights but was relieved in the seventh by Bob Meyer.

Centerfielder Ray Bye turned in a tremendous show of throwing accuracy in both games.

Married Men picked up a pair of wins this week as six games were played in the intramural softball double elimination tournament.

Bill Riggie pitched Married Men to a 7-3 victory over Cotta Monday afternoon, and Clinton III pounded out a 19-14 win over Clinton II. Bill Mantel and Sam Ford did the hurling for the winners.

In another high-scoring game Off-campus II won its game from Clinton I-Basement by a football score of 21-20.

The other game on Tuesday afternoon saw Grossmann I-Basement defeat Grossmann II, 10-8, behind Bill Buenting's pitching.

Two fine pitching performances were turned in Thursday afternoon. Riggie tossed a shutout as Married Men romped past Off-campus I, 11-0, Don Dietzler and Jack McClelland gave up only one run as Cotta beat Clinton III, 8-1.

IM Meets Set In Three Sports

Intramural tennis and golf competition has begun, and the annual track meet is scheduled Tuesday.

Eighteen men have signed up for men's singles tennis play, which is being carried out as a single elimination tournament. Matches must be completed by May 24, according to IM chairman Jim Ward.

The golf tournament is being played on the medal system of scoring. A match of 18 holes must be played at a time arranged by the competitors. May 23 will be the last day for this tournament.

Four teams will be entered in the track meet, one from each dorm and one from Off-campus. Sign-up sheets are now in the dorms. Men living off campus can sign up in the Student Union.

Golfers Wallop BV; In Conf. Meet Today

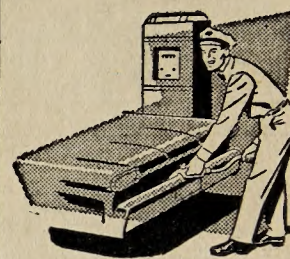

Wartburg golfers are competing in the Iowa Conference golf meet today after closing the regular season with a 13-2 win over Buena Vista.

Four linksters—Bob Mueller, Bruce Hein, Harry Jebson and Jack Abrams—are carrying the Knights' hopes today. Last year the Knights finished seventh, 24 strokes from the top.

Last Wednesday's meet saw three golfers fire below 80. Mueller was medalist with a 76, followed by Jebson with a 78 and Hein with a 79.

Senate handles four items

Senate night, freshman orientation hour, the foreign study program and approval of the Gamma House constitution were among the areas covered at the last Student Senate meeting.

Senate night will be held September 13 in conjunction with freshman orientation week. Student Body President Dick Buchsteiner and Student Body Treasurer Paul Mardorf will serve as co-chairmen.

THE SENATE has again been allotted an hour the day of formal freshman orientation to inform the incoming students how student government functions here. Vice President Fred Dierks will serve as chairman for this project.

Paul Wilken, student conference coordinator, presented a report on the conference scheduled for next spring at Dana College, Blair, Neb.

Last weekend Wilken attended a meeting in Minneapolis of all coordinators. The theme selected will be "Called to be Human in a Dehumanized World." John Driver, literary critic of the Christian Herald, will be asked to be keynote speaker.

DIERKS presented plans for a foreign study program and the Senate unanimously approved his recommendation. Catalogues and any available information would be set up on the same basis as the graduate school information is now.

Senate also approved the ballot for the Student Union Council. Six candidates approved were sophomores Joanne Gammelin, Jackie Lohr, Alene Aulich, Ken Bentz, Doug Goke and Bill Thompson.

At Tuesday's convocation, Joanne Gammelin, Jackie Lohr and Doug Goke were elected.

Mission Builders Chosen

Six Wartburg students will serve as Parish Mission Builders during the coming summer months.

They are senior Gail Lovold, Montgomery, Minn.; juniors Luci Zenker, Regent, N.D.; Clara Fink, Delmont, S.D.; Carl Jech, St. Paul, Minn.; Mike Sherer, Avoca, Neb.; and sophomore Paul Wilken, Danforth, Ill.

In preparation for their work, these students will spend the week of June 8-14 in training at Appleton, Wis. During the following nine weeks they will be staying at three different congregations, serving at each one for three weeks, in any area of the U.S.

Sponsored by the Youth Department of the American Lutheran Church, the Parish

Exams Begin Fri.

Semester examinations will begin next Friday instead of Saturday, according to J. O. Chelle-vold, dean of faculty.

Friday's classes will be held on Thursday, with the exception of the 10 a.m. class, since the regular convo program will be held.

Seniors Obtain Positions

Thirteen more graduating seniors have recently obtained teaching positions for the 1962-1963 school year, according to the Wartburg placement bureau.

In this group five states are represented. Iowa positions have been filled by Sonia Syverson who will teach English and French at Bellevue; Judy Holtz, English, at Andrew.

DARWIN Oehlerich will be a teacher of world history and physical education as well as assistant football coach and head basketball and baseball coach at Winthrop.

Bill Reints has signed a contract at Dumont where he will teach social studies and English. Another English major, Ordean Schroeder, will teach at Latimer.

Frank Hudson will locate at Shellsburg where he will teach science, and Diane Hart, a music major, has signed a teaching contract with the Waukon school system.

LaVonne Rickertsen and Robert Johannsen will locate in Illinois. LaVonne will teach business administration and physical education in the St. Charles' school system, while Bob will teach English at Crystal Lake.

A CHRISTIAN Day School opening has been filled by Mary Ann Kuntz who will teach second and third grade at Woodville, Ohio.

Marlene Yohe, a home economics major, has accepted a contract to teach home economics and physical education in the Edina-Morningside school system in Minnesota.

The principalship of Immanuel Lutheran School, Watertown, Wis., has been accepted by Curtis Peters.
